VOL. VI, NO. 1 WINTER NUMBER FEBRUARY, 1925

TO THE GRADS

Little need be said concerning the facts below, for they are indeed self-explanatory. But much should be said in regard to the meaning underlying these figures. In order to make a worth-while issue, we have, the past two times, sent out a circular letter to all the grads asking them for news for the issue to follow. The reply to letters sent out last April was about 50%. We thought that a fair showing, but we really had hoped for more. In order to make it the easiest possible for each Brother to send us news for the present issue we enclosed in the circular letter a brief questionnaire. We expected, therefore, at least a 75% reply. The actual result was 47%.

We feel that some radical move must be made soon in order to cut out the dead ones from our mailing list. It costs money to print such an issue as this, and every additional copy adds just so much to the printer's bill,—which, by the way, will be about $75.00 for this issue. Furthermore, it takes a tremendous amount of the time of the unfortunate Brother who has the task of gathering the material for such a large issue. If he is willing to go to the trouble of sending you a letter enclosing a short questionnaire the least that you can do is to fill that out and return it immediately. Something is going to be done before you receive the next issue. Either the reply from the graduate chapter in response to our next letter is going to be more encouraging, or else the issue will be made smaller, and the dead names crossed from the mailing list. If it is worth doing at all it is worth doing well. Its value to you will only be in direct proportion to the news and other material you send us. It's up to you grads.

THE FACTS

74 letters went to as many grads on Dec. 20.

35 replies were received by January 10.

33 of the questionnaires were returned.

9 personal letters were returned in answer to our appeal.

The first reply came from Art Smith.

Returns by classes

1917	100%	1922	44%
1918	33%	1923	40%
1919	71%	1924	38%
1920	33%	Ex-1925	33%
1921	46%	Ex-1926	75%

Between May 1, 1924 (the date of the going to press of the last issue) and January 1, 1925, a period of eight months, there have been 24 changes in addresses among the 78 graduates, as far as we have been able to learn.

For the sake of expediency and correctness won't you please inform us when you change your address? P. O. Box 90, Hanover, N. H.

TO THE FRESHMEN

Phi Nu of Alpha Chi Rho has started the year well and in welcoming the 1928 delegation, we want them to quickly and fully realize the duties, obligations, and privileges which thereby constitute the fraternity phase of their life at Dartmouth College. Nothing worth while is enjoyed by anyone without some previous diligent effort, and so because of the work that has been done by the older members of our chapter, you can find pleasure and happiness in the heritage as we turn it over to you. Certain definite things have been accomplished by the individual members that have given the chapter merited distinction. Our progress on the Dartmouth Campus has been the direct result of our ability to find our niche in the life of the College. At times it has been outstanding; at times it has been slow. To-day we are very favorably situated, and with a continuation of the interest and hard work that has characterized the active members for the last three years, our future is what our ambition cares to make it.

We present it to you, men of 1928, with all the help we yet can give, to make it what you will. Some things will be demanded and expected, not in any spirit of domination or unjust control, but rather because we have been so intimately connected with the "vitals" of the chapter, that we have found that certain things are true. You accept, in becoming one of us, duties and obligations, which if recognized and planned for, will not seem as burdens, but rather as the interesting part of your fraternity life that will add most to your intimate personal associations. With each new delegation comes in new strength to carry on, new possibilities for extended influence, and new personalities to be added, to build on the foundation that has been so well begun. It is not easy, but it will not seem hard if you will do the small things as they come along.

As we come to know you better, we will help you each to find what you can do. You all will have a place where your best efforts will be most effective, and for the present, it is your work to find your niche. Some of you will find it in outside campus activities, others working at the house. Both are necessary and neither more important. So this thing keep before you all the time. You have had the privilege and you have chosen Alpha Chi Rho. We welcome you with all that we have had. If we are to advance the standards of our chapter and of the national fraternity you must find your place, and then you will have your very definite chance to make Alpha Chi Rho a positive contribution to your experience at Dartmouth College. N. C.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

Phi Nu would like to take this opportunity to express its sincere appreciation for the faithful and efficient services of our National Editor, Brother Charles Hobby Bassford. Probably very few realize the amount of time, and thought which such a position demands to be handled properly. It requires steady work, and continual following up of those who are slow in meeting the just and timely requests made by him. In short the job is one of detail, and all but a thankless one. The Chapter Correspondent of Phi Nu has been much pleased with the business like methods by which Brother Bassford carries on the work of his office. Why isn't it possible for every one who is in any way responsible to his Chapter in presenting the news to the Garnet and White to make every effort to cooperate with Brother Bassford, and thereby make his work less cut and dried. We firmly believe that Brother Bassford wishes to put out the best publication possible, but in order to do so he must have the whole-hearted support of every one who deals with him.

And we might add right here that Phi Nu is more than a trifle pleased with the marked change which has been shown in the organization of the office of the National Secretary in the past few months. Brother Walden has firmly convinced us that there actually is a national organization in connection with Alpha Chi Rho, and that it has certain strict business-like ways. It was not many months ago that Phi Nu found itself utterly unable to get into communication with the National Secretary,—and it could see nothing to do but bring the matter to the attention of President Sieder. We are now coming to believe that the national organization plays some part in this national fraternity of Alpha Chi Rho. We trust and hope that there will be no other back slide in the progress of the national organization, and that the trend will always be onward and upward.

Numerous improvements were made in the House during the summer months. A new floor was laid in the spacious dormitory on the third floor, and the floors of the living room were rubbed down and refinished. All the rooms on the second floor were brightened with soft grey paint, and new draperies and over-curtains were hung. These few improvements, together with the extensive renovations made last spring and last fall, have put the House in fine condition, both inside and out.

SOPHMORE RUSHING

There has been considerable sentiment in the College for a change in the rushing season. In the Interfraternity Council last year it was decided that rushing would take place during the early part of the year, pledging coming between Thanksgiving and Christmas. This eliminated the jam of events at mid-year, since it was argued that Exams, Rushing, and Carnival all at once was too much of a strain on the Freshmen as well as the Upper Classmen.

Since there was some talk about the innovation of a Sophomore rushing season in the future, Phi Nu was far sighted and pledged nineteen men from '28. Immediately after the pledging at Thanksgiving time all this talk materialized and the Administration laid down the law. A Sophomore rushing season was instituted.

How will this affect Phi Nu? In the first place the present Junior delegation will not have to do any rushing work at all next year. All the work will be placed on the '27 and '28 delegations, one of which has experienced one rushing season, and the other none. Then there will be no income for the budget next year from the initiation fees of Freshmen. Somehow or other this year's treasury will have to suffice for two years.

When College opens in the fall of '26 there will be only two delegations in the Fraternity. Pledging will take place immediately after the return to Hanover, probably in the first two weeks of school. But the class of '29 will have been in College a whole year, will have had a chance to shape up, will have had plenty of chance to pick their fraternity, and will have shown by their presence that they were able to withstand the onslaught of academic duties. Thus the delegations will practically all be sunk on the day College opens and hence all chinning will be done away with. All that will be necessary will be to ask the candidate if he will accept a bid. Except in a few cases, bids will be extended only to those men who say they will accept them; some one or two may be on the fence.

In the fall of '26 the Class of '29 will return with all its talent exposed. The larger and stronger fraternities can pick their delegations at will; there will be no chance to grab off a good man because his light has for a time been hidden under a bushel. The rating of a fraternity on Campus will determine the degree of ability of the delegation it gets. Thus all good eyes of all good Brothers ought to be turned towards Phi Nu at that time, for she will be facing the supreme test of her hard-won place on Campus. If she crashes through better than ever, as she does every year, we can all smile with satisfaction that our duty has not been left undone. If she slips, it is no time to say, "I told you so!" It is time to rally forces and work towards further success in the future.

But not only the eyes of all Brothers should be turned towards the fraternity; helping hands should also be extended. Recommendations, a good word now and then to a prospective candidate, and helpful suggestions will all work for a good '29 delegation.

It is with deep regret and sincere sorrow that Phi Nu hears of the death of:

Dr. Charles E. Abbott (Nov. 30, 1924) of Buffalo, N. Y., father of Charles W., Phi Nu '26.

Mr. Robert N. Wallis (Dec. 9, 1924) of Fitchburg, Mass., father of Lawrence B. '18, Robert N. Jr. '19, and Richard G. '28, all of Phi Nu.

PHI NU VS. RUSHING

DEC. 6, 1924

384 members of the Class of 1928, which numbered 673 at the beginning of the college year, were pledged to the 24 Dartmouth Fraternities on the night of December 6 after a three-day chinning period.

Little need be said about the success of Phi Nu of Alpha Chi Rho in this recent rushing period. Nineteen men! The largest delegation that Phi Nu has ever taken and of which she and the Fraternity may be proud. The rushing committee worked all summer long on the new system, whereby the rushing was to take place in November, instead of February,—and came out on top. Among the new Postulants are faces that remind us of the old days when Kayo Klaren, Nock Wallis and the Great James McKinley Williams were in our midst for their brothers are now here to take their places. From a geographical point of view they range from Missouri to Pennsylvania and from Massachusetts to North Carolina.

Already the delegation has made itself prominent in activities. Joe Merrick was awarded his letter in Soccer, and Dick Wallis, brother of Nock Wallis, earned his numerals in Cross Country. John McGrath and Dick Wallis are in the Glee Club and College Choir. Three of the new boys are living up to the Chi Rho tradition,—heeling for the Dartmouth Outing Club. Jay Gordon is playing forward on the Freshman Basket Ball Team. He held the title of All New England Basket Ball Forward in 1921-22, and was a three-letter man in high school,—Northampton High. Al Lathrop ran on the cross country team this fall. McGrath, Pelton, and Meltzer are now reporting for the Daily Dartmouth working for a position on the board.

The Secretary of the Rushing Committee wishes to thank all of the Brothers from other chapters who were kind enough to send us names of men of the Class of 1928. They were all looked over and carefully considered, and the Chapter appreciates the aid rendered by the other Chapters of the Fraternity.

Following are the names of those pledged December 6.

H. F. Anthony, Jr. of Brookline, Mass.; L. Bohasseck of Elmhurst, Ill.; H. W. Brown of Newton Centre, Mass.; K. J. Chase of Melrose, Mass.; C. F. Davis of Newton, Mass.; J. M. Gordon of Northampton, Mass.; H. W. Graupner of Passaic, N. J.; G. O. Griffin of Springfield, Mass.; T. P. Klaren of New Bedford, Mass.; A. Lathrop of Montclair, N. J.; J. B. McGrath of Fitchburg, Mass.; W. H. Marx of Ridgewood, N. J.; T. F. Meltzer of St. Paul, Minn.; J. L. Merrick of Holyoke, Mass.; J. E. Pelton of Olean, N. Y.; E. M. Raymond of Kansas City, Missouri; J. A. Ullman of Greenville, S. C.; R. G. Wallis of Fitchburg, Mass.; and W. G. Williams of Ambler, Pa.

1928 DELEGATION

"Ace" Anthony has come up from the Bay State with a reputation as a Bill Tilden on the courts. And to be a member of Brookline High's rifle team is nothing to be sneezed at. He also shined in the art of Dramatics, and last but not least he is a worthy Four Minute Speaker. There's plenty of chance for further development up here. How's to keep going "Ace".

"Bo" Bohasseck from out of the wilds of "Illynoise" is going to show us how to play golf in a true western style. He doesn't appear to be naturally nosy, but we believe he can play a few pieces on the banjo, so we want him to make a lot of noise for himself and Alpha Chi.

"Herb" Brown had a tag put on him at Newton Centre, Mass., and was shipped up to Dartmouth to do his dirt. It's a good bet that a few manager's jobs are due to find "Herb" right on their tail. And remember that to be a good manager you need a bow tie. Herb ties his own, so we are looking for big things from him.

"Ken" Chase is another Bay State product. Melrose is the destination of his laundry box every week. They tell us that he played on Melrose High's famous hockey team, so he ought to "cut a lot of ice." He was also Manager of Baseball while at Melrose, and he may have a chance to do something like that up here. We wish him the best of luck.

Chick Davis another one of our boys from Mass., coming from the well known town of Newton, spent his prep school days at Harrisburg Academy, where he was much sought after in tennis and baseball. We expect to see him come through in one or the other of these sports next spring.

Usher in the athlete of the 1928 delegation, Jay Gordon by name. He is now receiving considerable bawling out in basketball practise, but that is a good omen, and we expect to see him on the Freshman team. He prepared for college at Northampton High School, where he was a three letter man. He played football, baseball, and basketball, and to top the climax he was named All New England Basketball Forward in 1921-22. He also took part in non-athletics, in such positions as class treasurer and class prophet.

Hank Graupner, may his name go down in fame, for he is a speed skater of worthy note. He dropped in on us from Passaic, New Jersey. He attended the Mackenzie School, where he had plenty to do in the way of activities. He played football and baseball, and devoted some time to learn the manly art of self defense. Along with these things he was secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and took part in dramatics. We are looking for something great from Hank, for he has plenty of opportunity.

Gerard Griffin commonly known as "Griff", hails from Springfield, Mass., where he attended the Central High School. He decided to lend his energies to the Choate School. There he played soccer, won the senior debate, and was an active member of the dramatic club. He is studying hard now, and will probably enter some activities soon.

"Duke" Klaren, brother of the already famous "Kayo" hails from the good old whaling town of New Bedford, Mass. Duke is not exactly a freshman in Hanover, for he has already spent the best part of two years while preparing for Dartmouth at the Clark School under the able direction of Doc Morgan. While there he played basketball. Much is expected of him if he is to follow in the foot steps of his brother.

Al Lathrop received his earlier education at Montclair High School, where he did his bit for the school by running on the cross country team. He continued that sport when he arrived in Hanover, and did his best for the Freshman team. He is now slinging hash at commons, and that keeps him pretty busy, but when he gets time he will show us a few things.

Jack McGrath comes from Fitchburg, Mass. Jack was on the track team for three years broad jumping. He was very active in music circles at high school. He is now on the glee club, and besides all this he is out for the Dartmouth, and is well on his way to the board.

Bill Marx attended high school at Ridgewood, N. J., and he was quite an athlete there, playing baseball, basketball and soccer. He also ran a dance orchestra during his spare time. At present Bill is organizing an orchestra here, and he is sure to be successful in this undertaking.

In spite of the fact that Ted Meltzer comes from 'way out west in St. Paul, Minnesota, he's not the slightest bit wild or wooly, quite the contrary, for he is rather a sleek gent. At his home town high school he was on the Honor Roll, belonged to the Latin Club, and the Divinity Club, and was the assistant manager in basketball. You can tell him by his pipe.

And here we present Joe Merrick, from Holyoke, Mass. In his high school days he seems to have shone in Track, Tennis, and Soccer. He went out for soccer this fall and did very well. The development of his legs is no doubt due to living only five miles from Mt. Holyoke.

We take this opportunity to announce an addition to the Pelton-in-Hanover family, namely Red. He's a bashful youth, but we got him at the piano once, and from the looks of things he will have to overcome his reticence. He comes from Olean, N. Y., so we can expect many hidden gifts from Red.

Behold, Brothers, we now have "Munny" in the Fraternity. No, not the coin of the realm, but Munny Raymond, who comes from Kansas City, Missouri, and who prepared at Lawrenceville. He is another one of these Joe Athletes, being a track as well as cross country man. By Spring he will undoubtedly be stepping out a bit,—not as we know Cox to do it.

From Ambler, Pennsylvania comes Bill Williams. He received his certificate from the William Penn Charter School where he is noted for his athletic, managerial, and literary ability. He also can wield a mean pencil, and before long we ought to see some drawings of his in the Jack o'. Bill seems to be one of the outstanding men of his delegation, and we expect much from him.

Dick Wallis comes to the fold from Fitchburg, Mass. He attended the Fitchburg High School, where he presided over the dramatic club and starred on the cinder path. He is keeping up his good work at college, having already won his numerals at cross country. If Track is his hobby we wish him the best of luck.

From the south country comes a gallant young gentleman known as Jack Ullman. Born in the metropolis of Greenville, North Carolina, he spent four years of intense devotion to the liberal arts at Woonsocket High School, where he managed the baseball team and was a track luminary. He is also noted for his (in)-famous ability at the xylophone. Jack's aim in life is at present a mystery.

Editor's Note: Much credit is given to Postulants Klaren, McGrath, Meltzer, Merrick, and Ullman for the valuable assistance in the above write-ups.

CHI RHO FOOTBALL SEASON ENDS SUCCESSFULLY

The Houses Trim the Out-houses in a 38-12 Carnage

How They Lined Up.

Houses		Out-houses
Emerson	Both Ends	Williams
Jameson	Right Guard	Fellingham
Bridenbaugh	Center	O'Leary
Hart	Miscellaneous	Ramsdell
Penney	Hunchback	Coddington
Cox	Razorback	Congdon
Robinson	Comeback	Davis

Score: Houses, 38; Out-houses, 12. Touchdowns: one for everybody. Safety, Cox got one. Time three 15 minute periods. Referee: Craig of Tuck School. Timekeeper: Hodgdon of Dartmouth. Substitutions: Sullivan for Emerson.

When the whistle blew for the teams to line up Referee Craig was unable to find the ball. It was soon located under Jack Penney's nether end. (He was sitting on it.) Bridenbaugh then took off his necktie and the game started. The Out-houses won the toss-up and elected to receive. But they couldn't catch it and the Houses recovered to the tune of a touchdown.

On the next play, which was a pass (this was a passing fair game, anyway), Ramey Ramsdell got the ball but was so confused by all the noise that he ran in the wrong direction and discovered his error only when the Razorback of the Houses took it away from him behind his own goal line and claimed a safety, which the referee had to give to him to keep him quiet.

The rest of the game was a treat to watch, but the chilly air drove most of the spectators indoors; that is, those who weren't playing. The Houses were the better team by far.

When approached on the subject of an all Phi Nu team, Calter Wamp is distinctly reputed as having said, "For Both Ends, I pick Emerson because one end of him can't be distinguished from the other. For right guard, I pick Jameson because he can't play on the left side so well. For center, I pick Bridenbaugh because he comes from Philadelphia and can talk the other side out of hitting him. For Miscellaneous, I pick Ramsdell because he's the only one; Hart being asleep most of the time. I would have picked Penney for Hunchback if he hadn't been such a good talkback. As it is I had to give it to Coddington in spite of all the lead in his pockets. For Razorback, I pick Cox because he is hogging the ball all the time. For comeback, I am inclined to choose Robinson because he came back more than Davis. All the rest of the men, as well as Congdon, can have my word of honorable mention."

Arrangements are being made to send flowers to all those players who want them. The team has since broken training, but Canfield says he thinks it can be mended.

ON THE CAMPUS

Nort Canfield wears the white hat of Palaeopitus, the senior student governing body by virtue of his position as manager of track. His headquarters are at the Casque and Gauntlet house, an honorary senior society.

Nibs Dowe was elected by the sophomore class as one of the twenty-five candidates for athletic managerships. He is now working daily in the Gym and on the athletic field in the managerial competition. Nibs is also vice-president of the sophomore class.

Jack Gordon, formerly all-New England high school forward, is holding down a first string position with the freshman hoopers. He led the 1928 team in scoring in a practice game with the varsity. Jack started in the only regular game the freshmen have played thus far, and the chances are likely that the Athletic Council will present him with a sweater.

Joe Merrick, another freshman, was awarded a minor sport letter in soccer. Joe led the soccer team in scoring although he modestly admits he was tied for first place.

Bill Sleigh is president of the Forensic Union this year. He has spoken in intercollegiate debates and took an active part in the campaign conducted by the Republican Club in November.

Bill Williams led the sophomore team in the annual sophomore-freshman debate.

Dick Wallis and Al Lathrop were members of the Freshman cross country team.

Carl Bridenbaugh and Mark Emerson were recently initiated into Kappa Phi Kappa, national educational fraternity.

Brute Sullivan is vice-president and Drenny Slater secretary of the Outing Club. Mark Emerson, Mil Hart, Ed Coddington, Fred Fellingham, and Bill Williams are all members of Cabin and Trail, the governing body of the D. O. C. Ken Weeks is director and secretary of the Canoe Club. Jerry Griffin, Al Lathrop, Munny Raymond, and Bill Williams '28 are all heeling for the Cabin and Trail. Bill Williams '27 is a candidate for the managership of the Ski Team.

Jim O'Leary '27 was recently elected to the Dartmouth editorial staff.

Red Pelton, Johnny McGrath and Ted Meltzer have entered the first freshman competition for the College daily,—THE DARTMOUTH.

Jock Davis has a good chance in the Bema business competition, as he already holds an unofficial managerial position. Al Wise is also enrolled in the Bema competition, while Kern Folkers is in the Aegis competition. Jack Draper and Joe Eaton are working in the business competition of the Jack O' Lantern of which Carl Bridenbaugh is associate editor.

Charlie Paddock featured with a cornet solo in the Yale Bowl the day of the Dartmouth-Yale game. Keith Angell is also a member of the college band.

J. F. O'L.

DARTMOUTH-14, YALE-14

One cannot write the annals of Phi Nu correctly and leave out the peerade which most of the house took to the first Yale game in, what is it, twenty-one or so years? We went, and we saw, even if we didn't conquer. How did we get there? Nobody knows and nobody seems to care. How many went? Nobody knows and the Phi Delta Brothers didn't complain. Some bummed, some went in the various campus fords (more power to Henry), some tore home and got the folk's car, while some of the more plutocratic brethren took the Special (or rather it took them—in fact it took us all—a long time to get over it). Well we got there! Harvard Business had to do without The Swamp (Morgan) for the day, most of the New York banks must have closed up for Jim Williams was on hand with Kayo (Klaren) and others of the New York bunch. Ted Pfeiffer showed himself in our midst for the first time in ages. Rocky Stoner, Bill Smith and the inevitable Llewellyn in a fur coat, etc., added themselves to the general reunion. Even the medics had their little get-to-get-her, Marty Quirk, Joe Pierson, Bill West, and Big Jim (Hennessey) constituting the party. Nock Wallis was there and set Dick a good example of fraternal loyalty (which example Dick has since followed nobly), and others too numerous to mention were on hand to swell the crowd.

The hospitality of the Phi Delta group should be the theme of this crude article. If the Chapter Correspondent hasn't sent the best bread-and-butter letter ever written to those boys, then he has slipped up terribly. I wonder whether all of our cnapeters would have received ten or a dozen lumberjacks from the north woods with such openness of arms and cordiality of mien, etc., as those boys did us?

The game! Well, everyone has read or heard of it by now. For the benefit of those who haven't let me say that it was A GAME!!! Of course we should have won, but you've probably heard that before. But it was a tense game, and it was nobody's game until the final whistle blew: then it was still nobody's game. The tie, however, failed to tie up our spirits. and we rejoiced just because that was what we were there for. Some of the brothers went to the affair at the Garde in the evening, and from all reports, had a real time, its only disappointment being that it was all over at midnight. Others found their amusement at various shows and dances, but they all found it somehow and somewhere. Phi Delta featured again when it came to finding things to do, and ways of doing them. It must be said that they are acquainted with their groceries when it comes to finding things to do in New Haven.

Another example of the old Chi Rho spirit was shown by the good Brothers at Phi Gamma. When nine of the boys just casually ambled up to Middletown that night after the game and dropped in on the Wesleyan House Parties, they were received with the same openness of arms which the Yale men had shown them. Best of all perhaps was the fact that they let us have their fair guests, and put themselves out to make Phi Nu's welcome one not soon to be forgotten.

It would be quite impossible to narrate the doings of all the Brothers over the weekend, but it might be said in passing that attraction in Worcester kept Penney from the game, Cox, Hodgdon and Abbott gave Hartford a lot of time after the game; Jamie drove dad's car down and entertained Ridgewood, represented by the inimitable Jimmie White, the great Craig, and Bill Marx; Joe Eaton, Jack Gordon, and numerous others found their way down in racy Fords; Draper's Overhung Special took Carl Herbert, Jock Davis and Balfour (as well as the Hastings boy himself); and Fellingham, Williams, Kammire, and others were found among those who rashly entrusted themselves to the Busted and Maimed.

Ten years hence we will look back and say with the deepest of sighs, "Ah! Them was happy days. When comes such another?"

FINANCIAL PLEDGES FOR A NEW HOUSE

Editor's Note: Brother Livermore is anxious to see Phi Nu in possession of a new house within the next eight or ten years. Following is his first report of the progress of his attempt to set it on a firm financial basis. We believe it is worthy of careful reading and consideration.

The campaign undertaken last winter to secure pledges for a new building fund will proceed independently of the work of the Building Association in retiring the present mortgage and loans. It is based on the assumption that a new house will be necessary for Phi Nu in about eight years.

All the members of the class of 1924 signed these pledges for varying amounts, averaging somewhat under $200. As a result of letters sent out to alumni at the same time, several pledges were received. Other Brothers expressed a willingness to aid in the plan, but did not desire to pledge a definite amount.

The total at this time would thus stand at about $3,100, counting in pledges of the type just mentioned.

By following up the appeal, made last summer, during the coming months, it is expected that this total will be increased. The primary source of additional pledges should come, however, from each graduating class during the next five years. Assuming $1,800 as the average amount to be pledged from each such class, the total amount possible under the scheme would be about $13,000, collectible between 1929 and 1933.

A system of pledges for such a project cannot be expected to work with perfection. It does not remove the necessity for hard personal effort and solicitation by a few individuals when the need becomes pressing. It does serve, however, to impress upon each member of the graduate and resident chapters his obligation to help in solving the future financial problems of Phi Nu. As such, the present plan will be carried on in the form that has been approved by the officers of the Building Association and of the Graduate Chapter.

SHAW LIVERMORE.

THINGS THAT HAPPENED LAST SUMMER

Jeff Robinson spent the summer selling Real Silk Hosiery to maids and society ladies in Southern New England. Rammey Ramsdell drove a truck across the great plains of Petosky, Mich. He also admits being a bill collector.

Our future giants of finance, Drenny Slater and Bub Craig prepared for Wall Street respectively at the Evanston Trust and Savings Bank and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York, where Bub confides he made a special investigation of a statistical nature. Carl Bridenbaugh was a teller at the Northern Central Trust Co. in Philadelphia.

Mil Hart enjoyed his hours in deep slumber at the Northwestern summer school. Ken Weeks and Roy Adams acquired knowledge at Boston University and Harvard respectively, while Chuck Abbott attended classes at the Syracuse summer school.

Joe Eaton worked for his father in Northampton, while plumber Cox sold heating supplies for his dad in Hartford. Al Whitney was also in the paternal employ in Marlboro, N. H. where he kept the local dances alive via the piano.

Bill Williams worked for his father in Leonia, N. J. and Nort Canfield for his in Somerville, N. J. Jake Penney, the local sheik, juggled ice for his father's company in Worcester during the day time, and eyes at night.

Brute Sullivan was assistant camp director at the Moosilau-kee Summer Camp operated by the Dartmouth Outing Club. Mark Emerson was a camp councillor at Camp Bourget, Aix-Les-Bains, Savoie, France. He brings back lurid tales of Paris where he stopped for a time (not as camp councillor). Ed Coddington, another Outing Clubber, was councillor at Camp Manitowish, Lake Boulder, Wis.

Al Wise traveled in England and Scotland. Kern Folkers took to the Pacific Coast. Bill Sleigh shipped as a seaman and reached the west coast. He got as far as Seattle, but did not make Everett where Bill West was riding horses, yachting, and watching operations. Ken Hodgdon rode the rails disguised as a pullman conductor.

Smooth Jameson was behind the desk at the Soon-Ipi Park Lodge, Lake Sunapee, N. H. Nibs Dowe was head bell-hop at Hotel Lookoff, Sugar Hill, N. H. He played in the orchestra nights. Peeper Paddock did the same at the Cliff Hotel, North Scituate, Mass., where he was also a bell-hop.

Jack Draper confesses to holding a remunerative position, but refuses to divulge the details. Al Lawrence was a soda jerker in Cuba, N. Y. Keith Angell rested in South Otselic, N. Y. Fred Fellingham worked in the oil fields of Wewoka, Okla. Jack Nichols manicured the golf links at Mount Lake, Va. He claims that he was also an instructor. Bob Congdon worked in Nashua, and Jock Davis labored on a fruit farm of his dad's, located in Sterling, Mass. Charlie Kammire worked in his father's insurance office in Salamanca, N. Y. Bill Pelton and Jim O'Leary wore out desks in the offices of the Hartford Fire Insurance Co. in Hartford.

TO QUOTE FROM PAST ISSUES OF THE IDETELU MARCH 1922

Milt Hart spends his evenings drawing some rare looking automobiles for the Jack O' Lantern Art competition.

If Westerners are breezy Bill (West) is true to type. A talker of no mean ability, and a fellow who makes friends easily, and hangs on to them everlastingly.

JUNE 1922

Kid Sullivan tries to grow bigger up in Berlin, N. H.

Bill West will sell Hudson automobiles to tight lumber dealers in Seattle.

NOVEMBER 1922

Al Whitney, as a smooth woman,—

Speaking of pipes, Bud's new Belgian calabash has been out-classed by Bub Craig's new furnace from Hamp.

Bill West proved his business ability at the game the other day when he sold programs. At the end of the transaction he had fifty cents less than when he started.

Speaking of the Band. "Nort Canfield is one of the leading cornetists and Bub Craig blows the battered old tuba."

The other day Carl Bridenbaugh announced that there would be an opening on the Cross Country squad for a good man since he had turned his ankle.

JUNE 1923

Brother Slater is again making his bid for the gold key of P B K.

Ken Hodgdon is a rather shy, reticent chap, UNTIL you know him. Then watch out for the corks.

DECEMBER 1923

Speaking of the Harvard Peerade. Even Brother Jameson consented to spend $5.75 to see the spectacle, and "that's an innovation," says Jake. The outstanding man of the whole affair was Ken Weeks, whose peerless leadership in every detail, even including the inspection of the fairer sex to see if they were O. K. for the boys, was nothing short of phenomenal (ask him if you don't believe it).

Canfield stayed at the Brunswick and refused to give certain of the Brothers any time.

And yet we have been unable to gather any information regarding Slater, the agnostic, or Brute Sullivan, the Junior spy.

JUNE 1924

Mil Hart has at last decided to do some studying.—

Bill Cox pitched a good game, holding his opponents scoreless in all but one inning. Bill Pelton, first man up, started things by hitting a home run.

FINANCIAL REPORT OF THE PHI NU BUILDING ASSOCIATION

Brother Weeks has suggested that those of the Alumni who are not fully acquainted with the financial policy of the Phi Nu Building Association might be interested in a brief statement from the treasurer regarding the same.

I shall not attempt to furnish a balance sheet of the Corporation at this time. Such data is given in full in the report submitted to the Vice-President of the Fraternity each January and in the annual report issued each May. I am glad, however, of this opportunity to make a few statements regarding the program which we are pursuing.

As is probably generally known, we financed our building almost entirely on borrowed capital. This undoubtedly was not good business, as it made the annual interest charges very burdensome; but it was felt at the time that the necessity of getting a house which would establish us on the Campus more than outweighed the financial considerations. I think that the results have justified the attitude then taken, but we must resign ourselves to paying the bill for some time to come.

In the original financing $3,000 was loaned by members of the Association. The annual interest on these loans, which run for 15 years and are retirable at the option of the Association, is approximately $180. The Peoples Trust Company of Lebanon took a mortgage on the property for $14,600. This loan was negotiated on a 5% basis. According to the agreement which we have with the bank we are retiring this loan at the rate of $1,000 a year. We feel that the bank is adopting a very liberal policy in this respect. Up to the present time $2,600 of the principal has been paid off, making the present mortgage $12,000. This carries an interest burden of $600 per annum. Taxes paid to the Town of Hanover average about $350. Allowing $200 for incidentals, which figure cannot be called excessive, our annual budget calls for an expenditure of $2,330.

To meet this budget we have an income of $2,410, $1,910 of which comes from the rents paid by the fourteen men living in the house. The remaining $500 is contributed by the Resident Chapter for the use of the social rooms.

It will be noted that this financing makes no provision for a depreciation fund which sound business practice demands. To establish such a fund it would be necessary to increase our income. It has been felt, however, that it would not be feasible to attempt to raise room rents which are already as high as conditions in Hanover warrant. Under the circumstances it has been found necessary to throw the burden of painting and making such minor repairs as are needed on the Resident Chapter.

It can be clearly seen that at the present rate it will be a matter of some ten years yet before our debt is entirely wiped out, even by adding to the yearly payments on the principal the amounts which are saved through the reduction in interest charges.

The only solution which the directors of your Association are able to advance is the securing of more gifts from the Brothers. We have sympathized with the aims of those Brothers who have advocated the raising of a fund for a new house, but we have felt that the clearing up of our present indebtedness comes first and that it will be no easy task. We assumed certain obligations with our eyes open, and it is now up to us to "carry through." We can do this only by securing the earnest cooperation of every Brother of Phi Nu. An appreciation of what the directors of your Association are attempting to do will make the task less difficult for them. Generous gifts by those who are able to contribute will hasten the day when we can conscientiously make plans for providing for Phi Nu those quarters which our growing importance on the Campus warrants.

WALLACE WRIGHT.

Los Angeles, California.

NOW AND THEN

The annual Thanksgiving Rodent Conference took place a day earlier this year but was all the better for it was entirely spontaneous. The odds seemed to be about even at its conclusion although it is rumored that Sullivan and Craig still have something coming to them. Bridy's and Ken's room is in working order again in spite of the efforts of Penney and Slater to demolish things. If Jock and the impetuous Brute don't get out of the habit of locking the brothers in the shower, Whitney will flunk out of Tuck School. Ask Sully how he likes making his bed up five or six times a night.

Jameson says the reason why the store doesn't have better candy is because it sells too fast and is too much trouble to keep the stock up.

Miracles of miracles! It is rumored that Ramsdell got all the way out to Petosky and back without mishap. Apparently he doesn't need a nursemaid after all.

It is surprising how felicitous one may become toward dumb animals. Ask Jock Davis about the New Haven cats.

Any of the Freshmen who are unable to grasp the point to Brother Craig's little Christmas gift may be enlightened by inquiring of the gentlemen in question. (Can of toilet powder.)

With two such artists as Penney and Hodgdon in the House, we should agitate for an interfraternity cross-word puzzle tournament.

Britt reports the following facts which he has ascertained about Hartford Brothers in his brief sojourn there. Jim O'Leary is the quietest BOY in Hartford. Bill Cox is the noisiest MAN in Hartford.

"Among the members of Northamp's younger set present at Carnegie Hall Xmas Eve were Joe Eaton and Miss Alice Drumezi." Britt.

May the new year discover within our midst a genius capable of realizing a new billiard room,—or at least a new pool table.

You've probably heard enough of these to be tired of them by now, but just to show the diversification of names in the House, notice that:

"The Cox crew as Hodge arose and dressed in his natty new Ridinbriches, shaved with Williams, and anointed his hair with Nuveen, and sat down to breakfast. Having Eaton all he desired, he went out to the Paddock, harnessed his horse to a Sleigh, and set out for the little town of Coddington. He had not gone far when he passed an old friend James Robins who was walking with his son (Robinson). He took James and his son (Jameson) along with him for a ride, but as he only had a bad Penney and two Nichols in his pocket he did not dare treat them to the dinner they hoped for in town. After leaving them at the Drapery (Robins was a Draper by trade) he went on. From this time on Hodge was not seen again for nearly a month. It was in fact Weeks before he returned. Nobody to this day knows where Hodge went or what Hodgdon. Moral: Be Wise and have a Hart."

GRAD NOTES

Editor's Note: Grad notes came in rather slowly from the individual Brothers, as will be seen by the summary printed elsewhere. Much credit is due to Chuck Moreau for the fullness of these notes. We ask that you keep us informed.

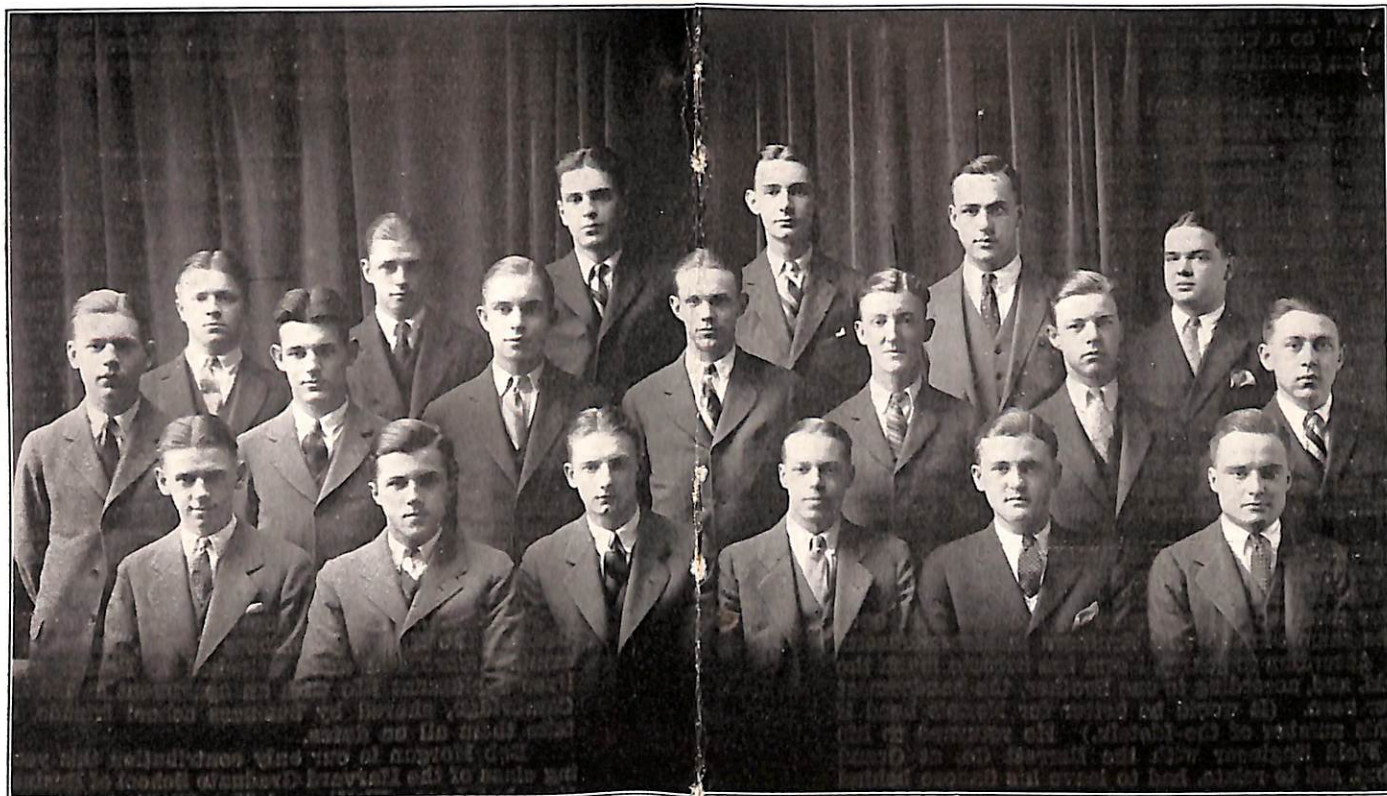

The membership of the famous Phi Nu Club of New York, located at 34 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn, is ever fluctuating. Permanent residents at the present time are Brothers Wilson, Stoner, Klaren, and a friend, Johnny Blake of Princeton. Brothers Forbush and Taylor, who are traveling most of the time for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, are part-time residents. Very numerous are the Brothers who find a hearty welcome when they seek a night's lodging in the big city.

Brother Wilson completed his law course at Harvard in June, spent the summer in the Kansas wheat fields, and is now connected with the law firm of Frueauff, Robinson & Sloan of 67 Wall Street, New York. He is studying for the New York State bar exams next spring. As we said above, he is living at 34 Schermerhorn Street.

Brother Livermore, one of the assistants this year to the Dean of the Harvard Business School, confesses himself as becoming more and more attached to Boston and vicinity. He lives a pleasant life with an apartment at 159 Hancock Street, Cambridge, shared by business school friends, and a Ford to take them all on dates.

Bob Morgan is our only contribution this year to the entering class of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, but Larry Wallis and Mrs. Wallis have returned from the University of California, and Larry is continuing his studies at Harvard as well as holding a tutorship there. Dick Libby is also in Cambridge taking a second year of graduate work, and partly supporting himself by doing research work for the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture. He works under the title of Statistician, in the Division of Markets.

Charles Packard Gilson, Jr. born last August, is living a jolly and sometimes noisy life with his parents at 170 Claremont Avenue, New York City, unworried by the predictions of his dad that he will be a quarterback on the big green team of 1946, and will, upon graduation, study law in the office of Judge Wilson.

Ted Merriam is in the National Bank of Hawaii, but has a private address, Box 3463, Honolulu, T. H.

Johnny Fitzgibbon, according to reports coming from unprejudiced sources in Bridgeport, is making a big success in the lumber business.

Among the many Phi Nutes who met at the Yale game, was Art Smith, Merchandise Manager on the Hartford Courant, with his fiancée, also connected with the Courant. Too bad,—we have forgotten her name,—and he wouldn't inform us in black and white "all about her."

Jim Williams who was, after graduation, connected with the bond department of the Bankers Trust Co. in New York, has taken a position with the Bond house of Blair & Co. in Philadelphia and is living at home in Ambler, Pa. He might as well admit that he is practically engaged to Miss Betty McKinney of Flatbush, L. I.

Jim Hennessy is living at 118 West 71st Street, New York, with Bill Kelly and Jack Booth, both of Dartmouth, and is attending the College of Physicians & Surgeons of Columbia University.

Claude Andrew Jagger, who was working for the "Telegram" of Worcester, Mass., is now with the Providence (R. I.) "Journal," and the "Evening Bulletin."

Norm Carver returned in September to see the East once more, and at the same time to visit Brothers in Massachusetts and New York. According to gossip, Norm has become much the man of the world, and, according to one Brother, the handsomest man he has ever seen. (It would be better for Norm's head if he didn't see this number of the Idetelu.) He returned to his job as Tarvia Field Engineer with the Barrett Co. at Grand Rapids, Mich., but, sad to relate, had to leave his fiancée behind in New York to follow her profession as an actress.

SNAKE Felton calmly exhibited a good looking wife to the Brothers at the Cornell game without having said anything about her previously. He is now connected with the Bellevue Hospital, after graduating from Cornell Medical School.

Brother and Mrs. Deke Childs of Forest Hills, Brother and Mrs. Charlie Gilson, Jim Williams, Miss Hetty McKinney of Flatbush, Bob Wilson, Mrs. Dorrit Woodhouse of Boston, Rocky Stoner, Miss Margaret Craig of Philadelphia, Johnny Fitzgibbon, Karl Klaren, Chuck Moreau, and Ted Pfeiffer, all had seats in the same section at the Cornell game, and repaired afterwards to various places for supper and dancing.

Pete Baily has completed his course at M. I. T.

Jim White is commuting to and from Ridgewood, N. J., and working for his father, the publisher of the Encyclopedia of American Biography.

Bub Tice is living in Bloomfield, N. J., and still working for the L. Bamberger & Co. department store, Newark, "One of America's great Stores," according to both Louis B. and Bub.

Harold Bidwell lives in Bloomfield, Conn. and assists in the management of his father's hardware establishment in Hartford.

Jack Rosnell is still domiciled at Bound Brook, N. J., but goes to work as a chemical engineer in Elizabeth.

It is said that the new light Pierces, "cheaper than a Cadillac," are a God-send to Kerry Bull of the Buffalo Pierce Arrow Agency. He sells more of them.

Charlie Altman is studying architecture at the University of Pennsylvania.

Bill Chism, for the sake of finances and eyes, has gone into the Coast Guard Service for a year. His war-time experience in the navy made it easy for him to get a good job. He expects, however, to complete his engineering course at the Thayer School of Civil Engineering at Dartmouth, next year.

Kenny Caldwell is in the office of the Remington Manufacturing Co. in Buffalo and is living in that city with Mrs. Caldwell. They say that the former movie enthusiast, only about four feet tall, now weighs 200 pounds more or less.

It is reported that Tagliabue, erstwhile of Hanover, is now at Princeton. Brother Drews, also of the 1926 delegation, has been drawn to that more opulent university as well.

Herm Oliver has had to run the Oliver Department store of Buffalo all by himself much of the last year. Oliver, senior, has been in Florida and then in England with the champion American lawn tennis team. Needless to say that the business was run well and increased under the direction of the former Chapter treasurer.

Al Rayner was married in Springfield, Mass. on September 27 to Miss Helen Louise Rounds. He is with the Gilbert Barker Co. of that city, serving as Industrial Engineer.

Jack Weare is traveling in Maine for S. B. Thing & Co., of Boston, a rubber goods house.

Wally Wright, treasurer of the Phi Nu Building Association, has left his position with the Food Research Institute of Leland

Stanford University and is now with the credit department of the California Bank of Los Angeles. It is understood that he thinks that shekels are more plentiful in banking than in college teaching or research.

Deering Smith is kept busy with his general practice as physician in Nashua, but of course finds time to pay much attention to his twins, now about four years old.

Ralph Carey, ex '25, who studied for a while at M. I. T. is now engaged in landscape engineering in and around Newburyport, Mass., where he lives.

Ernie Rautenberg spends considerable of his time on the road as a salesman for the Beaver Products Co. in Northern Indiana, but finds time now and then to amuse his two year old daughter.

Charlie Johnson is in the credit department of the Walker Stetson Co., 157 Essex Street, Boston. (Wholesalers, Dry Goods and Smallwares.)

Nock Wallis is still in the employ of the Stebbins Company of Springfield. Last report had it that he was treasurer. The main news we received from Nock was to the effect that William Park Wallis, born May 18, 1924,—weight 8 pounds 4 ounces, was entered at the age of 2 weeks at Dartmouth in the class of 1945 or '46.

Lew Smith is kept busy as Insurance Adjuster in Northern N. H. for one of the Hartford Insurance Companies.

Ed Streater is in the retail lumber business, and makes his headquarters in Winona, Minn. Ed states that they are having real winter weather out there, and he adds that it is too cold for words,—other than those of Bill Cox or Chuck Abbott.

Skin Matless, a man of two years of experience with married life, informs us that he is now in the purchasing department of J. C. Hubinger Brothers Co., Manufacturers of Corn Products, located in Keokuk, Iowa.

Murray Knowlton, ex '26, who transferred to the University of California at the end of his freshman year, has now left that institution, and is at present working for Shreve Gold Products, Inc., manufacturers of dental gold. Murray intends to go into newspaper writing soon. Murray finds much enjoyment in his work with the Players Club, to which he has recently been admitted, and which corresponds to the Provincetown Players in the East.

Gene Tift is at present residing in Boston while studying in the Boston Theological Seminary, having given up the idea of going into law. He asks that we put down in this publication,

"Married September 27, 1924," "children none, but hope not vanished." Further than that he will say nothing for fear that "the impious Wade Kepner" or Stadlinger would rise up in rebellion.

We note with much surprise that Brother Jerome Davis, now of the Yale faculty, is coming into the limelight of dear old Boston. To quote from the editorial column of the Boston Post dated November 18, "Professor Jerome Davis of Yale is but the most recent among many speakers in Boston to advocate a new political line-up, with a sharp division between conservatives on the one side and progressives or radicals on the other."

Jerry Kerwin is apparently leading a quiet life as an instructor in Political Science at the University of Chicago.

Bill Smith tells us that he is at present working in the capacity as an engineer in connection with bus lines in N. Y. C. It has recently leaked out that he is engaged to Miss Claude von Phul of that city.

Don Kavanaugh is finishing his last year in Medical school, and is living at home.

Gray Bates is at present with the advertising department of the Strathmore Paper Company at Mittineague, Mass. He announces that he is engaged, but refuses to divulge more than that.

Wade Kepner, referred to as "the impious Wade Kepner" by Tift in his reply to our letter, has really settled down for life. He married Miss Martha Nay September 2 last.

Don Morse, now leading a married life, is in the power department of the New York Telephone Company.

George Noyes, our quiet gentleman of the 1924 delegation, is now principal of the high school in South Dennis, Mass. Feature it!

"Tib" Tibbetts reports that he is busily engaged as a salesman for The Brockway-Smith Corp. of Boston. He is living at home.

Paul Britt has moved to Hartford, where he is employed by the Hitchcock-Curtiss Knitting Company. We judge that he keeps company with Bill Cox, for he tells us that "Cox tried to swap his Bow-Wow coat 10 times in one hour New Year's A. M., but was unsuccessful each time." And he adds that no one was tight enough to accommodate Bill!

Larry Wallis has returned from the West, and is now located in Cambridge, where he is a tutor in English with rank of instructor at Harvard University.

Harold Burnham is with the Walworth Manufacturing Company (Valves, Pipe Fittings and Tools) in their South Boston factory.

Jagger, in reply to our question in regard to men entering in the Class of 1929, says that he doesn't know any at present, and that he considers the state of some of the alumni is such as to claim prior attention. Marsh Morgan and Pshaw Livermore, he goes on to state, are leading such lives in Cambridge as are a disgrace to the order. He suggests that two stalwart Brothers be dispatched with dirks to make short work of both of them. Canfield has already delegated Cox and Ramsdell to look after the matter.

Al Taylor is traveling extensively through the country on group insurance work for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and is making his headquarters with the Phi Nu Club of New York.

The only news we have in regard to "Baldy" Baldensperger comes from Jim Hennessy, who writes as follows. "Ran pluck into Baldy last summer at a circus in Laconia, N. H. I was darn glad to see Baldy, and he looked as husky and as genial as ever." Draw your own conclusions.

Bub Craig tells us that we must include his name in the grad notes. We don't know what to say, other than that he is leading a quiet (?) life in Hanover, where he is attending the Tuck School of Business Administration and Finance. Bub has resigned all the official positions which he held at the house, although we note that he still hangs out there.

We have had several interesting letters from Win Nazro during the past few months,—the most recent one reaching the editor on the day that this goes to press. Win is at present managing one of the United Fruit Company's banana farms in Honduras, Central America. He has found many things of interest there, especially the small revolutions, which break out now and then. Win tells much of the weakness of the government army, and of the stubbornness of the rebels, and the encounters of the two. He is anxious to have the Brothers write him, for he finds the natives rather unsociable. His address will be found in the directory printed elsewhere in this issue.

Warren Hollis, of the firm Emerson-Hollis, has spent most of the year near their plant in Newton Center. He reports a large business in the line of engraved Christmas cards.

Bill Sleigh is the chairman of a committee which is making the full arrangements for the affair. We understand that Brother Wilbur M. Walden, National Secretary will be among the out of town speakers.

The Athletic Council at its final meeting in June awarded letters to Brothers Nazro '24, and Canfield '25, for their work in track.

NEWCOMERS

Joseph R. Pierson of Hopewell, New Jersey was initiated into Alpha Chi Rho late in November. Joe graduated from Pennsylvania in 1923, and is now a second year student in the Medical School of Dartmouth. It is Claimed that Joe was a sand lot ball player of all-New Jersey fame.

Edward Everett Emerson of the Class of 1926 was pledged Chi Rho early in December. He prepared for Dartmouth at Danvers High School. Ed has shown, besides other things, that he is able to get along on easy terms with his books, as well as with everyone whom he meets. His present address is Howard Seminary, West Bridgewater, Mass.

HERE AND THERE

The Executive Committee of the house has for the past few months consisted of Brothers Canfield, Jameson, Slater, Sleigh and Weeks, while Brothers Abbott, Robinson and Fellingham have recently been appointed in order that they together with several others will be able to carry on the work next year.

* * * *

Jock Davis has just been elected Chapter Correspondent to succeed Ken Weeks, who has handled the work for the past year. Jock is also secretary for the rushing committee, and is keeping a card index of those men of the Class of 1929 who are, from time to time, recommended. Send any recommendations you may have to him. P. O. Box 90.

* * * *

Phi Nu has maintained an almost constant scholastic standing for several years. Two years ago we stood eighth among the twenty-four fraternities on the campus. In the last report we hold third place, with only Epsilon Kappa Phi and Sigma Phi Epsilon ahead of us.

* * * *

The following Brothers are at present rooming at the House. They are named in order beginning at the head of the stairs, and continuing around the hall.

Robinson, Ramsdell; Hart, Whitney; Emerson, Sullivan; Bridenbaugh, Hodgdon; Craig, Jameson; Cox, Penney; Sleigh, Slater.

Early in the year "Nibs" Dowe '27 was elected to the athletic managerial competition. "Nibs" is vice-president of his class, and is a consistent point getter in track.

* * * *

We hesitate to make the following announcement in regard to honors because of the malicious threats of physical violence made upon the editor by the third mentioned. (We refuse to divulge his name.) But in looking up the past records of the policy of the editors of the IDETELU we find the following, which is quoted word for word from page one of the first issue, —dated March 1920.

"The 'IDETELU' will succeed by following three fundamental principles of journalism: first, no news is not good news; second, news of familiar things is most interesting; and third, all the news should be divulged. The 'IDETELU' is now old enough to speak for itself; 'I shall never hold anything back from you, Brothers.'"

Twelve of the departmental awards, honors and prizes, which were awarded last June for the year 1923-24, came into the ranks of Phi Nu. Brother Chism '25 was awarded the Read prize of $50 for exceptional work in descriptive geometry. The Tirrell Medal, awarded annually for the greatest progress in physical improvement, due regard being given to the excellence of work in classroom, was awarded to Brother Fellingham '27.

Brothers Sleigh '25, Chism '25, and Eaton '26 received honors in Public Speaking, Physics, and Mathematics respectively.

Brothers Noyes '24, and Chism '25 are placed in the Second Honor Group (rank of 3.3 to 3.6 for the year), while Brothers Ellis '24, Morgan '24, Emerson '25, Slater '25, and Fellingham '27 are found to be in the Third Honor Group (rank of 3.0 to 3.3 for the year).

ROUND ABOUT US

The new Phi Sig House, just north of their old one, will soon be ready for occupancy. The work on a new house for the Sigma Nu Fraternity is well under way. They are building on the south side of Webster Avenue, and just west of the new Delta Tau Delta house, which is nearly completed, and which is opposite the Kappa Sig house. The new president's house is being built between Webster Avenue and Tuck drive, and will face the Avenue. Work is going on rapidly on all these new homes, all of which are to be of brick construction, and modern in every detail.

* * * *

Within the past few months a new national fraternity has taken its place on the Dartmouth campus. Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity has extended a charter to the Sigma Tau Omega local fraternity. Sigma Tau originated as a non-fraternity organization in 1915, and was known as the Cosmos Club. In 1920 it was admitted to the Interfraternity Council, and in 1923 it changed its name to Sigma Tau Omega. This makes the twenty-first national fraternity to set foot on the Hanover hills.

DARTMOUTH

A Profitable Summer for Dartmouth Senior

When I counted up my orders at the close of a week's work and found my actual earnings were $62 for 48 hours I naturally gave considerable thought to Real Silk as a means of helping the average college man work his way through school.

Even under ordinary circumstances it would take several years for me to work myself up in an organization to the point where I was making that much.

My entire summer was a very profitable one and I look forward to bringing other Dartmouth men into this work for the coming summer.

P. S. ROBINSON '27,

Head Organizer, Dartmouth College.
